Annabel joined 2 Hare Court as a pupil in September 2026, following six years in practice as a City solicitor specialising in regulatory litigation and financial crime.

As a solicitor, she represented individuals in high-profile criminal prosecutions brought by the Serious Fraud Office and the Financial Conduct Authority. Her experience encompasses internal investigations and investigations by law enforcement agencies, including matters involving bribery, corruption and money laundering. She has substantial experience advising on the principal money laundering offences under sections 327–329 of the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002.

Annabel also advised clients on health and safety enforcement, from initial investigation through to prosecution. She has experience advising clients in connection with inquests and extensive experience representing clients in public inquiries, including the Grenfell Tower Inquiry and the UK Covid-19 Inquiry.

Alongside her legal career, Annabel holds a public appointment with the Ministry of Defence, advising on issues affecting veterans and the delivery of veterans' and pensions services in London.
